A message from our CEO and President Brian Fitzgerald:

In 2017, Easterseals will be operating within a new funding system from the State of New Jersey. Despite this, our staff is prepared to deliver the same high-quality service and administrative support we pride ourselves on.

Our ability to provide opportunities for people with disabilities to live, learn, work, and play in their communities relies in large part on the continued generosity and support of our donors. This year, the support of our donors will be even more important to the achievements of people with disabilities. We look forward to taking on disability together with our staff, donors, volunteers, program participants, and their families to create even greater opportunities for people with disabilities and special needs in New Jersey.
