Worksite Accommodations A Proven Strategy for Attracting, Retaining Motivated Workers

Looking for some highly motivated, loyal employees?

Research shows that employers who make worksite accommodations for workers with injuries or disabilities are rewarded by employees with fewer absences and greater loyalty.

Easter Seals can help you attract or retain valued employees through its Worksite Assessment program. Conducted at the workplace, a Worksite Assessment involves a professional evaluation of the functional tasks and demands of a job and the equipment used to complete each task. Our Assistive Technology Specialists have training and expertise in evaluating the worker's functional abilities and functional demands of the job. Devices to bridge that gap may include an ergonomic keyboard to reduce wrist strain, voice recognition software to increase productivity, or screen reading software to aid someone with a visual impairment.

The service includes a pre-evaluation phone call to discuss the specific concerns, a comprehensive assessment of the job and job tasks, and a written report with specific recommendations, where to get the products, and their cost.
