AND BOARD CHAIR

This was an exciting year for Easter Seals Southern California. Our story is one of growth to meet the needs of individuals and families for our services. Among the highlights in this report are the expanded numbers of people whose lives have been improved in meaningful ways by our Autism Therapy, Employment, Adult Day, Independent Living and Children's Services.

We take great pride in the impact our mission driven efforts have each day in the lives of our friends, family and neighbors throughout local communities.

We thank you for your continued and generous support.

WHY WE DID IT

AUTISM SERVICES

To help MEET the tremendous need for therapy services for individuals diagnosed with autism and other developmental disabilities.

“We are most thankful for all your hard work with our child. Hearing him speak is a parent’s dream come true. We know it’s a long path but we have hope that he will be just fine. Thank you for all you do.”

— Sara and Bob Jones*

“Our recent trip to Disneyland was night and day from our last one. Last year we had to get a special pass because our son would not stand still in line and would scream and run away. As a result of his autism therapy services with Easter Seals, this year he waited patiently in line, followed directions and was observing everyone, especially the kids we went with. I was so excited that I took video and sent it to my mother. She too was amazed.”

— June Smith*

* Names have been changed.

WORKFIRST

To help SOLVE the high unemployment rate of people with disabilities.

Suzanne O'Connor's life has come full circle. Following a teen pregnancy, a marriage of 15 years with five children, a divorce, mental health issues and drug addiction, she is successfully working as a produce manager at Jon's Market.

In and out of rehab and drug court, WorkFirst helped Suzanne figure out a career path and how to market herself to an employer. "WorkFirst helped me focus and provided structure. I was looking at fast food jobs but WorkFirst emphasized finding work that I could make a career out of."

Today Suzanne is drug-free, independent and gainfully employed. "Everyone should have the opportunity I've had."

Matthew Seymour enjoys his job with Sodexo, a food services and facilities maintenance company contracted by DirecTV to run their employee cafeteria.

Matthew has a full-time job with benefits doing food prep for the cafeteria's juice bar. An Eagle Scout, Matthew was able to get his job with support from WorkFirst.

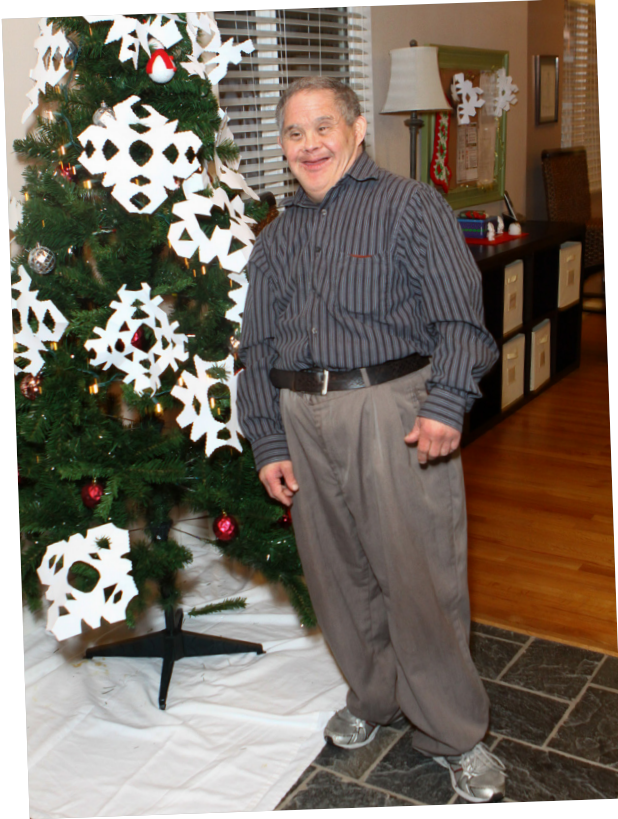

WorkFirst helped him discover the types of jobs he'd like and supported him through the application and interview process. Once hired, Matthew was assigned a job coach who helped him master his duties. Plus, Matthew is completing a community college certificate in recreational leadership and working on another in hospitality.

Matthew's parents Cliff and Varnessa say, "Easter Seals WorkFirst changed our son Matthew from a 'consumer' to a 'producer'. This will give him a more positive future. We are eternally grateful for the work WorkFirst did for Matthew."

WHY WE DID IT

LIVING OPTIONS ■ ADULT DAY SERVICES

To SUPPORT people with disabilities to live and thrive in local communities—not in institutions.

Paul Maldonado lived almost his entire life in an institution. For 40 years, starting when he was 7, Paul lived at a state-run developmental center.

Two years ago he transitioned to living in a local Southern California community. He now lives in a 4-bedroom, 2-bath home with three housemates and full support from Easter Seals Living Options staff.

“From his first visit to this house, Paul wanted to stay,” says Residential Administrator Sola Fadipe. These days Paul lives a full life that includes a job providing help at an office, chatting regularly with his neighbors and social activities. “His life is not so restrictive anymore,” Fadipe says.

Salina Weaver was a teenager when a car accident left her with a Traumatic Brain Injury at age 17. After three months in a coma, Salina lived at home for the next six years with her mother as primary caregiver.

In the past two years Salina’s life has changed tremendously as a result of her participation with Easter Seals Adult Day Services. With support from her Life Skills Coach, Salina does regular volunteer work in the local community, socializes with her peers and has set goals that include walking again, having her own home, and maintaining paid work. “Easter Seals has made a big difference in my life. I love volunteering and working each day toward meeting my goals,” she says.

CHILDREN'S SERVICES

To BUILD a better future for children—and our country—by providing early education and family support services.

Lindsey Friend started with Easter Seals Children's Services Home Base Program as a teen mom to get help working with her daughter who was having some behavior problems.

While in the program Lindsey and her three young children were forced to flee to escape domestic violence. "I was homeless and had no money, family or friends for support," she says. "I'm grateful that my Easter Seals Home Base teacher gave me resources for shelter and counseling for me and my kids." The Home Base Program teacher also referred Lindsey to job and other community resources. Lindsey followed through. She got a job (and a promotion), an apartment and child care for her girls.

"Home Base is a great program and I consider the teacher a friend. She's always been there. I can always pick up the phone. This was a great opportunity and Easter Seals was my backbone."

Sandy Pena says the Easter Seals Child Development Center (CDC) has made many things possible for her and her two children, Scarlett and Nicolas. "I am a single mom. If it wasn't for the CDC I wouldn't have a job and be able to support my kids."

Sandy's kids have received Early Head Start and Head Start services as well as child care at the CDC. "My daughter started at the CDC when she was two. She is very social, has learned her ABCs and more. My son's development was not up with the other kids his age. He has autism. The CDC guided me through the process of getting him the therapy and services he needs."

As a result Sandy says her children will be ready for school—and life beyond. "Everybody at the CDC from beginning to end has been amazing and patient and loving."

Mary Platt, a banking executive who has served as an Easter Seals board member locally and nationally, has been a supporter for years.

"One of my favorite memories has been watching my son truly enjoy participating at Camp Oakes with Easter Seals during the summer. One of the most impactful stories I heard while serving on the board was about a family whose daughter moved from an institution to to one of Easter Seals homes in a local community. The family was against the move at first. When they saw how well she adapted and how happy she was it made them relieved to know they didn't have to worry about her well-being."

Peggy McEachen, Senior Grants Administrator, Doheny Foundation. The Foundation supports Easter Seals Senior Day Care Services.

"I found it a challenge to be both caregiver and provider for my late husband who was in a wheelchair for the last two years of his life. Senior Day Care Services are essential for those in similar situations. As we age, the need for support increases and Easter Seals offers a program that treats clients with care and respect."
