McCarthy's Katy Corrigan Joins Easterseals Colorado Board

Denver (June 2, 2017) – McCarthy Building Companies, Inc. is pleased to announce that Katy Corrigan, director in the company's Denver office, has joined the Easterseals Colorado Board of Directors.

Easterseals Colorado partners with individuals, families and the community to reduce the impact of disabilities and health challenges. The organization aims to create opportunities for people with disabilities to achieve greater independence through wellness, employment, respite and recreation.

"I'm honored to join the Easterseals Colorado board," said Corrigan on her new role. "I am excited to commit my time and talents outside of work to a cause that makes a profound difference in people's lives every day."

At McCarthy, Corrigan is responsible for maintaining client relationships, building strong project teams and pursuing new business opportunities in Colorado. She has more than 15 years of experience in the construction industry, including more than a decade of hands-on project management experience for McCarthy in the field.

"Easterseals Colorado couldn't be more thrilled to welcome Katy to our Board of Directors," said Lisa Dokter, Vice President of Development at Easterseals Colorado. "Her commitment and belief in our mission is invaluable. We are excited to have her added experience with the disability community and her construction industry expertise."
